Successful scholarship recipients will clearly describe the changes that will occur as a result of the investment in their training, and will submit the application electronically.

Answer the following 7 questions to explain what impacts you expect these travel funds to have on extension programming, your organization or your community.

1. Specifically, what do you hope to learn from attending this training?
2. When you return home, with whom will you share the learned information? (Who is your target audience?)
3. For the target audience you share the information with, what changes in awareness, knowledge or attitudes will the target audience experience?
4. What actual changes in skills, behavior, decision making or other practices do you hope the target audience will implement?
5. How will you measure that change? (To measure change, there is a start point and an end point!)
6. Do you have a specific goal in mind, such as meetings, demonstrations, work sessions with specific producers or other programming that you plan to facilitate in this subject area?
7. Are there plans to incorporate this topic or subject area into existing programming or projects?
